The '68 Hawk Presents

WHS in Action

Faculty

Wall School has an outstanding faculty with each member making his contribution. The 1968 Hawk is dedicated to a member of this faculty, Mr. Myrl Wilde. The sincere interest and earnest effort he extends encourages us to work diligently. We know by his work with us on various school activities that he really cares. He devotes time to our problems and is an easy person to talk to because he understands questions, disappointments, and dreams of young people. It is, therefore, with deepest gratitude and appreciation that we, the annual staff, make this dedication to Mr. Myrl Wilde.

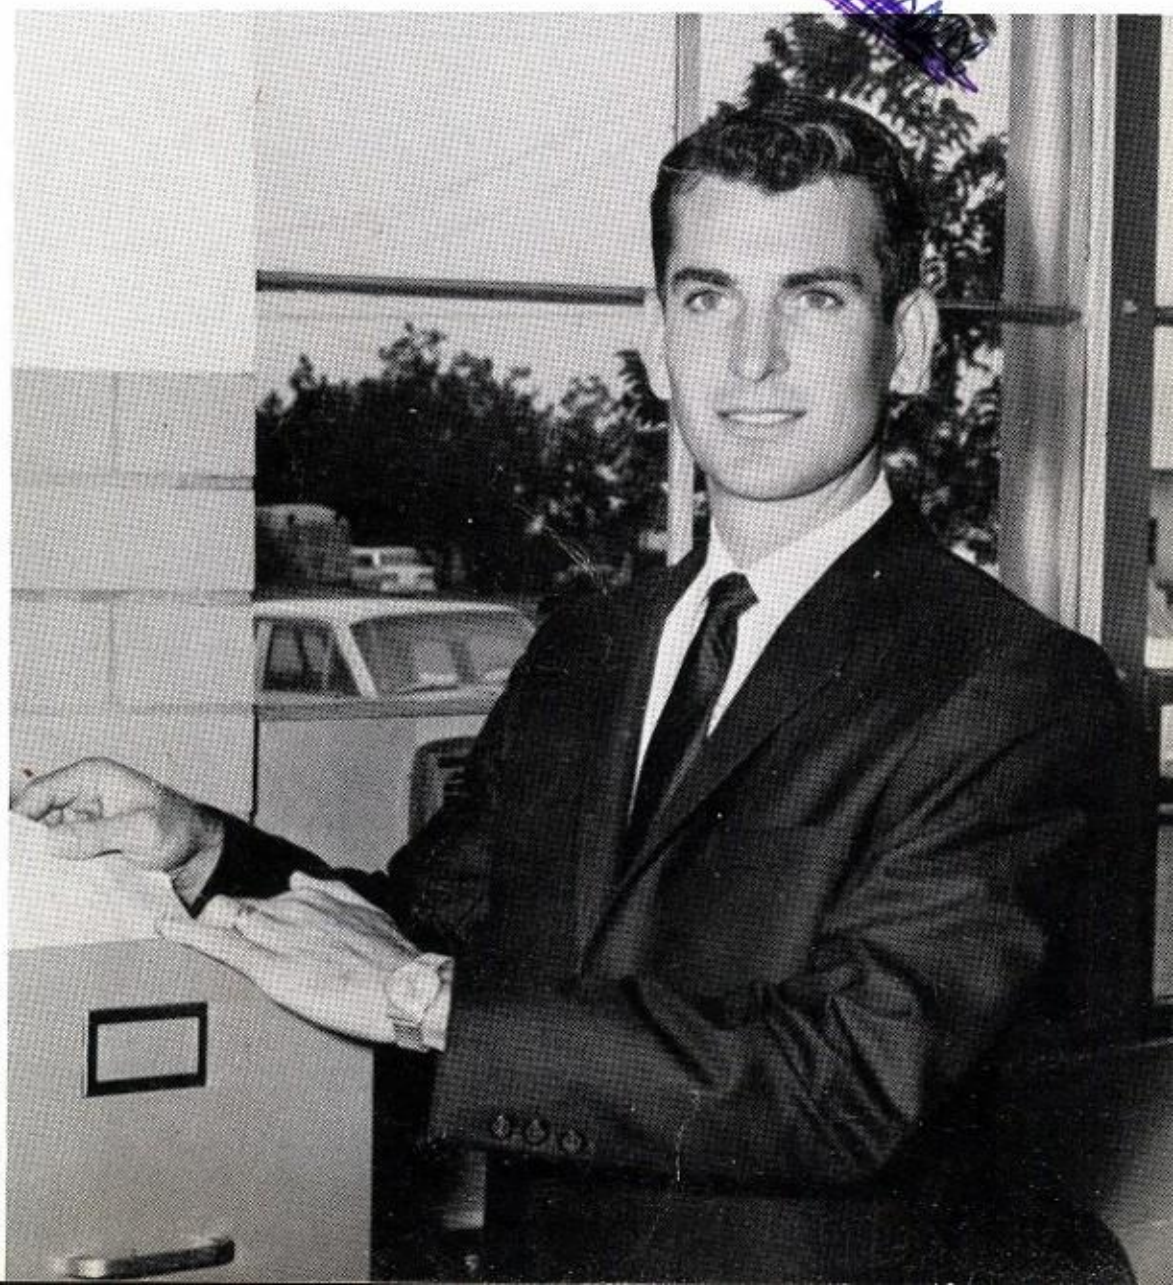

Superintendent, Mr. L. T. Cave.

Seniors

Yearbook deadlines, Hawk's Claw stencils, and homecoming fanfare confront the seniors as they eagerly plunge into a final memory making rush of activity, assuming positions of responsibility and leadership. After a final fling at high school functions, they climax a grand "last year" by departing on the traditional senior trip. Ending a week of unforgettable fun and frolic, the 1968 senior class returns home to awaiting caps, gowns, and diplomas and the long anticipated graduation becomes a reality at last. Senior favorites are Wilbert Dieringer and Carolyn Schwartz.

Juniors

Becoming an upperclassman brings new experiences as the juniors find themselves caught in a mad whirl of thrilling events. They plan and work together to produce the annual banquet and prom and employ every method possible to keep the theme of the occasion a secret until the evening comes. The high-light of the year, however, is the arrival of the cherished senior rings, and the juniors close the school term by building castles in the clouds with dreams of a sensational senior year. Junior favorites are Larry Book and Margo Edwards.

Sophomores

Having already learned to combine lessons with leisure in a previous year of high school life, the sophomores are off to a good start as they swing into a second year at WHS. Again the sports events, bonfire, club meetings, and, of course, regular home work and exams pop up as the weeks roll by. When the bell rings for the summer recess, the sophomores realize they have hit the "halfway mark" and they eagerly look forward to the last half of their high school days. Sophomore favorites are Gary Gerngross and Connie Halfmann.

Elementary

As the doors of school swing open in September, the elementary students again fill the classrooms. The first grade children find that school meets all of their expectations; the students in "middle" grades find that the work and play become more challenging than the year before; the junior high group finds that their work prepares them for entrance into high school. But whether blowing up balloons, riding on the merry-go-round, working on a class report, or watching a basketball game, the elementary grades are building a firm foundation for future education. Elementary favorites are Daniel Wilde and Sherry Cave.

Organizations

Whether lighting a candle in an installation ceremony, singing on the way back from a district convention, painting posters for a membership drive, or amending a motion in a regular meeting, every member does his part to further the growth and success of his organization. Keeping the club's purposes firmly in mind, he and his fellow members strive to fulfill them as they participate in various projects and functions. The donation of time, ability, and concern is necessary to benefit from unlimited opportunities of education, honors, and friends that organizations offer.

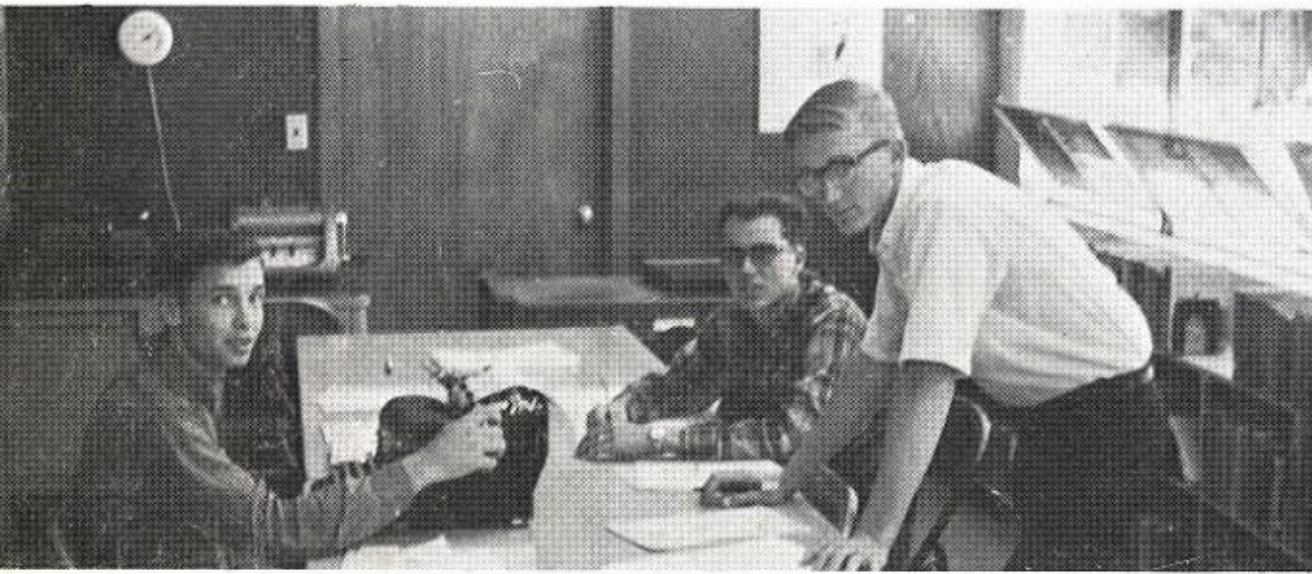

The business manager handles the money involved and circulation persons sell subscriptions and distribute the annual.

Sectional editors design the layout of various divisions as well as headlines and literary content.

Journalism Staffs

Advertising managers plan the section purchased by businesses that helped finance the yearbook.

Hawk

Final pages are drawn and typed by layout people while artists add a finishing touch.

Yearbook and newspaper editors with sponsor for organization teamwork.

Photographers capture realism through hard work with the camera.

Editors assign stories for their respective sections, revise them, and give them to the editor-in-chief.

Record School Action

Artists draw headlines and art figures on stencils.

Editors-in-chief work necessary in staff

Publishers rush to reproduce pages in time to meet newspaper deadlines.

Hawk's Claw

Circulation people help assemble and distribute the paper.

Page editors are responsible for typing "hot copy" on stencils for mimeographing.

Student Council purposes are flexible. They range from promoting school spirit, student morale, and scholastic attainments to sponsoring social activities.

Athletics

Diligent practice, sportsmanship, and school spirit are all vital constituents of a dedicated athlete. But the work of one player cannot win the game. It takes the united effort of a team with each player contributing his part in fulfilling plays with clocklike precision. This attitude, this spirit of teamwork, is a contagious thing. And, as a result, there is nothing that can draw a school closer and make it more loyal, more devoted, and more unified than the desire to capture a victory that another school desires just as much. This contest of athletics makes the whole school a combined team.

Campus Capers

The Wall High School campus is the spotlight of many sport, club and individual activities, fun sprees, and incidents. Each year is filled with many laughs, new problems and interesting projects enjoyed by all. Campus Capers is filled with snatches of the action of this busy, heckling, fun filled year - 1968.

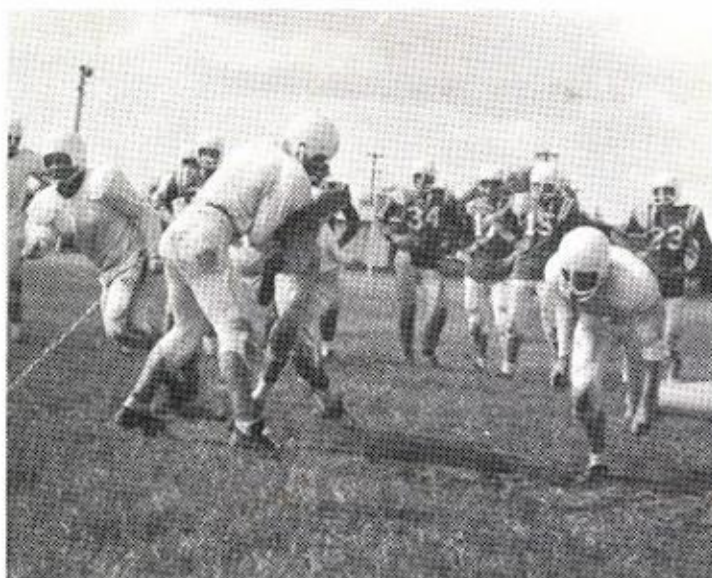

Do - Re - Mi. . .

Two in a tangle and the two that got away!

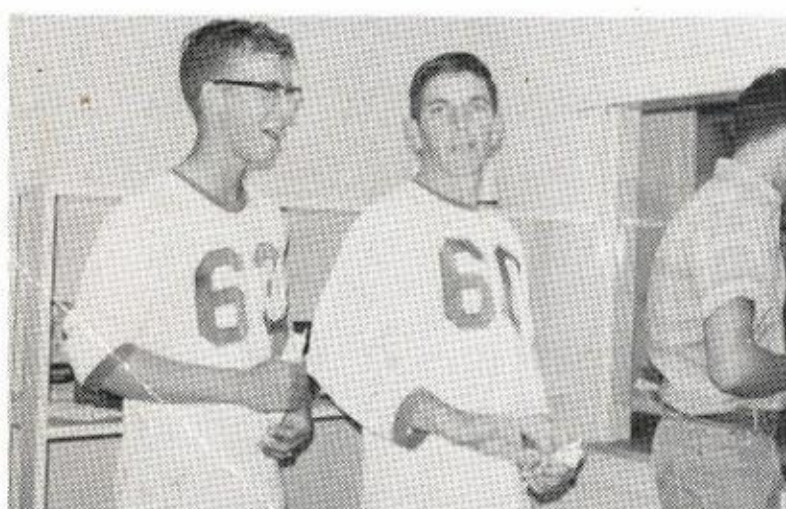

Win or Else!

Halloween Enchantment

Hobo's Heaven!

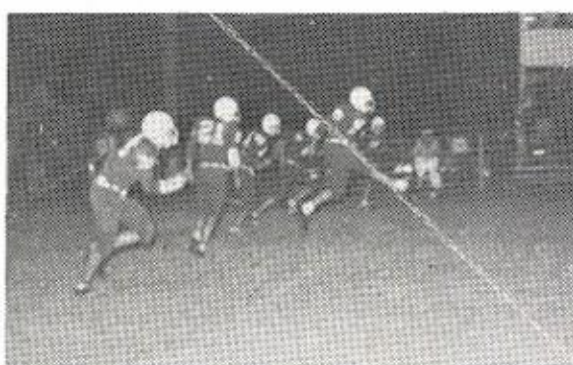

You Rang?

Crawl Larry Crawl!

What's this?

Not that I'm bragging!

Business

The world of business is an important one to us. As a result of automation and scientific discoveries, we find a vast array of products at our fingertips. Competition of business creates a strive for quality and the customer is able to obtain a better product for a lower price. The businesses and firms in and near Wall have helped finance the publication of this year-book. You are invited to patronize these firms who have themselves so liberally supported and "patronized" our school. It is through them that we obtain the fine products and service so necessary in everyday life.

AS THE ACTION ENDS. . .

Nearly twelve months of work, plans, tears, and laughter have produced the '68 HAWK presenting WHS in Action.

The editors and staff members have worked long and hard but we couldn't have done it alone. Our thanks go first and foremost to Mrs. Lois Warr, who sponsors the HAWK. There isn't a way to show our appreciation of her generous giving of time and talent. We thank the many businessmen in our area who are kind enough to advertise in the HAWK, for without them this publication couldn't have been made. We thank the faculty of WHS and our parents and friends who put up with our gruffness during the frantic days preceeding each deadline.

Just as the production of this edition of the HAWK has ended, so the action of this school year at WHS is ending. And with the ending of this, our senior year, we wish to thank each of our teachers, friends, and parents who have helped us throughout these important years that are filled with so many memories.

We hope you, the students, enjoy this edition of the HAWK. In the years to come we hope you will be able to pull it off the shelf, dust it off, and once more become part of the action at WHS during the 1967-1968 year.

Linda Hoelscher
